Brand Story

Kurlon started its journey in 1962 when Ramesh Pai, the founder, envisioned creating an industry for coir due to the abundance of coconut trees along India's vast coastline. During one of his visits to Germany, he discovered coir's extensive use in automobile seating. At that time, coir had hardly any market presence in the country. However, due to his pioneering insights, he recognised its potential for mattresses. With the launch of Kurlon, he went on to make history with coir in India.

Started as Karnataka Coir Products Pvt Ltd with one factory in Arsikere - a small town in Karnataka.

Kurlon bags its first railway order.

Introduces the campaign 'Stand on, Sit on, Sleep on, Kurlon.'

Becomes an ISO 9001 certified company

Breathability

- Natural coir grid is a durable and eco-friendly material used in mattresses for enhanced support and breathability.
- Made from coconut husk fibers, coir grids are processed and bonded with natural latex to create a firm yet flexible structure.
- This provides excellent spinal alignment, prevents sagging, and improves air circulation, keeping the mattress cool and moisture-free.
- Coir's antibacterial and hypoallergenic properties make it ideal for healthier sleep. Its resilience ensures long-lasting performance while being biodegradable and sustainable.
- Combining firmness with comfort, natural coir grid materials are widely used in premium mattresses to deliver an optimal sleeping experience.
